Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 30 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Prolonged sunshine and feeling very warm.

Today:
Any cloud will soon clear during the early morning, allowing for a fine and dry day with plenty of sunshine. Irish Sea coasts may see the odd patch of low cloud. Feeling very warm across the country, especially inland. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying dry with plenty of clear spells across the country, but some areas will turn cloudier at times through the night. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Wednesday:
Another dry day with sunny spells, though coastal areas may see some patches of low cloud or sea mist. Feeling very warm further inland. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Breezy on Thursday with southwestern areas remaining warm. Conditions staying largely dry throughout with sunny spells, although eventually turning much cooler with colder nights, bringing a risk of frost.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.